Choosing the right license for your business_

Choosing the right licence type will depend on the needs of your business and your budget, so spend time researching the options. The main differentiator between the licenses are the applications included and the level of security offered, so pay particular attention to whether these are a fit for your needs.

If you're not sure which license will offer you the most return on investment and align with your goals, our free 'Exploring Enterprise licensing' workshop gives you dedicated time with our experts to audit your requirements and uncover which option offers then most value.
